On Behalf of the People of the United States of America

Open Letter to:

Politicians

Lawmakers

Healthcare Leadership

Citizens of the United States

Date: April 19, 2025

Dear America,

This is an urgent call to action—a demand, not a request. It is a cry on behalf of the millions of Americans suffering in silence, dismissed in hospital rooms, neglected in waiting lists, and failed by a system that has forgotten its first and most sacred duty: to heal.

The healthcare system in the United States is broken. It is not broken because we lack science or resources—but because we have allowed profit, politics, and bureaucracy to eclipse our moral responsibility. This letter, from R123, marks the beginning of a national course correction. We are standing up and speaking out for every patient whose voice has been ignored, every family forced to bury a loved one due to avoidable failures, and every honest clinician shackled by a corrupt system.

We are calling on government leaders to act now. We challenge medical researchers to redirect their focus toward the urgent, overlooked diseases that are robbing people of their lives and dignity. We urge funding agencies to support the ethical and human-driven research that has been marginalized in favor of profit-driven projects. It's time to reroute resources to institutions that prioritize people—not politics.

We vow to expose the institutions that have betrayed their duty and uplift those who are fighting the good fight. To the citizens suffering as my family and I have—we are not waiting for permission. We are fighting for you now.

We are R123. And we are done asking politely.

I. The Core of R123: Three Rules That Should Have Never Been ForgottenOur name—R123—represents a return to three fundamental rules of healthcare. They are simple, essential, and yet astonishingly neglected in modern practice. We are placing them back at the top where they belong:

1. Rule One: Do No Further Harm.

This must not be an empty oath. The harm done by dismissing, ignoring, or inadequately treating patients has reached catastrophic levels. Every action taken in healthcare must first prioritize patient safety and well-being—without exception.

2. Rule Two: Treat the Patient, Not Just the Tools.

Patients are not data points. They are living, breathing people experiencing fear, pain, and symptoms that often elude standardized metrics. Lab tests and imaging are helpful tools—but they are not the patients—the PEOPLE. Human observation, compassion, and trust in patient testimony must return to the center of care.

3. Rule Three: Collaborate to Heal.

Healthcare is not a solo endeavor. The refusal to collaborate across disciplines—or worse, the gatekeeping of knowledge—has cost lives. We must encourage open, team-based approaches to complex care, valuing every expert voice and every patient experience.

II. The Goals of R123

R123 is not just a movement. It is a legislative, legal, and cultural mission to reset the compass of healthcare. Our goals are non-negotiable, and we are mobilizing nationwide support to turn these into binding policies:

1. Criminalize Intentional Medical Negligence.

When a patient is knowingly denied necessary care, when symptoms are dismissed without proper investigation, when harm is caused through avoidable inaction or abuse of authority—those responsible must be held criminally accountable. No badge or white coat should shield someone from justice.

2. Implement a Patient-First National Standard.

o Give patients the legal right to document their own perspectives in their medical records.

o Remove the requirement of physician approval for diagnostic testing.

oo Launch a real-time, unbiased patient advocacy team in every state—equipped to intervene during active medical disagreements and prevent irreversible harm.

Patients must be empowered—not controlled—within their own care.

o Abolish the Statute of Limitations for Intentional Medical Mistreatment of ANY TYPE.

3. Incorporate Independent Experts in Diagnostic Pathways.

For too long, critical voices from outside the conventional medical model have been excluded. R123 demands the inclusion of unaffiliated specialists—such as parasitologists, immunologists, and toxicologists—in diagnostic evaluations of severe or unusual illnesses. These experts bring insight that saves lives, and their neutrality ensures diagnostic integrity.

4. Establish a System of Ethical Checks and Balances.

Power without oversight is the root of medical corruption. We are advocating for the creation of federal oversight bodies that monitor healthcare systems, protect patients from abuse, and ensure transparency from hospitals, insurers, research institutions, and regulatory agencies. The current agencies have sold us out.

5. Protect the Right to Speak.

Patients who speak up about mistreatment must be protected from retaliation. So too must healthcare professionals and researchers who blow the whistle on unethical practices. No one should be silenced for telling the truth. R123 will fight to enshrine whistleblower protections and make truth-telling in medicine a protected right.

III. A New Era of Patient Power

This is not a single campaign. It is a movement, and we are just getting started. We are assembling a nationwide coalition of patients, ethical providers, legal advocates, scientists, and lawmakers ready to reimagine a healthcare system that works for the people.

R123 is pushing legislation. We are taking legal action. We are activating the media. And we are not stopping until the lives and voices of patients are respected, protected, and prioritized—no matter their background, diagnosis, or zip code.

If you are a citizen, a lawmaker, a journalist, or a healthcare worker who believes we must do better—join us. Sign on. Speak up. Help us push forward the bills, lawsuits, and initiatives that can finally put patients back at the top of the pyramid, where they always belonged. Do not merely listen to input from cherry-picked “leaders” who all too often have their own hiddenagendas and biases; however, LISTEN TO THE PATIENTS! the nation, virtually, and HEAR EVERY VOICE.

For the people. For the patients. For the truth.

We are R123.

And we are here to restore what should never have been lost.
